LAST WEEK WAS POOR ONE FOR NETTERS

Mackerel netters did not do much last week owing to unfavorable weather and landed only 48,700 pounds during the week. Sales were made to wholesale dealers at 12 to 13 cents per pound. About 1000 barrels were received by steamer from Nova Scotia and were in good demand owing to the short supply of native fish.

In the corresponding week of 1929, receipts of fresh mackerel from the fleet amounted to 86,000 pounds. They were caught off Cape Ann by netters and sold to dealers at from 15 to 24 cents per pound. In the same week of 1928, netters did well and landed 239,800 pounds of fresh mackerel which sold from 10 to 15 cents pound.

Demand Light.

Salt mackerel are in very light demand and transactions so small that it is difficult to quote any reliable prices. There is small demand for N. S. large 3's.

The total catch of mackerel to date has been 42,154,929 pounds as compared with 42,511,470 pounds in the same period of 1929; 29,609,400 pounds in 1928; and 37,924,050 pounds in 1927.

THREE DRAGGERS ARRIVE TODAY

ONE FARE OF MACKEREL HELD OVER FROM YESTERDAY'S RECEIPTS.

Three of the off-shore fleet of draggers arrived this forenoon from Boston for the General Seafoods Corporation, landing a total catch of 77,000 pounds which went to fillet. One fare of fresh mackerel held over from yesterday's arrivals and not reported, took out at the Producers' Fish Company. Only a few of the gill net fleet went out yesterday, but the reduced hauls failed to stem the tide of pollock receipts, and over 300,000 pounds were landed.

POLLOCK TAKES SLUMP IN PRICE

Pollock, which have been selling for $1.25 dressed and $1.15 round, took a big drop yesterday, bringing 65 cents a hundred weight, with dealers not caring whether they bought or not. As a result of the drop in price, several of the gill net fleet will, it is said by some of the skippers, shift over to cod nets and set close to rocky ground.
